RECREATION

the magazine of the recreation movement, is published monthly by the National Recreation Association, except July and August. It is on file in public libraries and is indexed in the Reader's Guide.

VOL. LIV, NO. 7
SEPTEMBER 1961
IN TWO PARTS—PART II

Introduction

THE National Recreation Association presents its Sixth Annual Edition of A GUIDE TO BOOKS ON RECREATION, AGBOR.

Our aim is to bring you the most comprehensive list of recreation books including the latest publications in the field. There is no other specialized guide incorporating this wide selection of carefully screened books. This NRA service will help you to keep your recreation library up-to-date, or, if you are planning to start a personal or organizational library, our guide will aid you in the wise selection of books.

One hundred and fourteen publishers have cooperated in making this guide possible. The 722 useful books—205 of them new publications—cover all phases of the recreation field. Most are available to NRA members at a discount.

A copy of each book is now on display at the RECREATION BOOK CENTER in New York City. We invite you to visit us—to browse—and to purchase the books you need for your library. Here you can also familiarize yourself with the many other services of the National Recreation Association.

Books are also on display at the yearly National Recreation Congress where orders are taken. A mail order blank is enclosed here for your present convenience.

Further information on NRA services will gladly be supplied on request.
